Obituary General Information

The best way for private parties (families not working with a funeral home) to submit an obituary is online at www.adn.com/obituaries/. Obituaries may be also emailed or brought into the office. Anchorage Daily News does not accept handwritten obituaries; obituaries must be typed to ensure grammar/spelling are legible.

If a funeral home is involved, the obituary must be submitted via the funeral home.

Obituaries may be edited by Anchorage Daily News for spelling, punctuation, grammar, formatting and clarity.

Rates:

Anchorage Daily News offers the following flat-rate obituary package:

- Eighty lines for a flat rate of $195 for one day in print and 30 days online, with $12 per each additional line and $20 to include a b&w photo as well as $5 to include an icon.

Details: Eighty lines equal approximately 300 words or 1835 characters. One line equals approximately 4-5 words.

The option to publish obituaries for additional dates within the same week as the initial publication date is available on the online submission form. The pricing for multiple publications is determined as full price for the first date and half-price for each additional date.

Notice General Information

Anchorage Daily News publishes notices for free. A service notice may consist of: deceased's name, date and location of death and date, time and location of any visitations and/or services. Funeral home name is required to place a notice.

Submissions with additional information are considered obituaries and are subject to charges.

Notices may be edited by Anchorage Daily News for spelling, punctuation, grammar and formatting.

Notices may be submitted online at www.adn.com/obituaries/, or via email to obituary@adn.com, be sure to include the text and requested publication date.

Obituary Example

Long time Anchorage resident Jane Doe, 87, died May 4, 2019, while staying at Alaska Regional Hospital in Anchorage, Alaska.

A service will be held at Legacy Funeral Homes Kehl's Chapel located at 11621 Old Seward, Anchorage at 1:00 pm and a burial to take place at Anchorage Memorial Park Cemetery at 2:00 pm.

Mrs. Doe was born July 7, 1923 in Prince Rupert, British Columbia, to Winnifred and Burt Sheppard.

She graduated from Booth Memorial High school in 1942. She married John Doe on September 6, 1946 in Seattle, Washington.

She and her family came to Alaska in October of 1956 where she worked for M B Contraction and Sealand for many years. She retired from Sealand Freight Line as a teamster.

She resided in Anchorage for 55 years.

In retirement, she enjoyed volunteer work, bowling, knitting, traveling, and especially her family and her grandchildren.

Mrs. Doe was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans in Foreign Wars of the United States and a member of Teamsters Union Local 959. She was a member of the Women's Commercial Bowling for several years.

Her family wrote, "Jane's Love for her family, generosity and kind heart were an inspiration to her loved ones. She lived her life with integrity and bravery."

She is survived by her two sons and daughters-in-law, Lynn and Cindy Doe of Bonney Lake, Washington and Brian and Sue Doe of Anchorage, Alaska, five grandchildren, Amber Doe, her husband Robert, Shannon Doe of Bonney Lake, Washington; Eric Doe of Paulsbo, Washington, James Doe, Robert, and Jill Doe their children Matthew Doe, Olivia Doe, William Doe of Anchorage, Alaska, and Finnley and Iain Doe of Bonney Lake, Washington making her five great grand children.

Mrs. Doe was preceded in death by her husband, John, her brothers, Allen and Neil Dear, and Grandson Aaron Doe.

The family asks that donations be made to Disabled Veterans of America in lieu of flowers.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Legacy Funeral Homes Kehl's Chapel.
